Horticulture contributes to Walworth County diversity
Walworth County sales of Christmas trees, fruits and vegetables, greenhouse, nursery and floriculture products add up to $6.5 million. Landscape, grounds maintenance and tree-care businesses create additional full-time jobs and many seasonal jobs.

Direct-marketing sales add $829,000 to economy
More and more Walworth County farmers sell directly to consumers through roadside stands, farmers’ markets, auctions, pick-your-own operations and community supported agriculture (CSA). In all, 87 farms generate $829,000 in direct-marketing sales.

Farmers are stewards of 61% of the county’s land
Walworth County farmers own and manage 217,593 acres, or 61 percent, of the county’s land. This includes cropland, pasture, tree farms, farm forests and wetlands. As stewards of the land, farmers use conservation practices, such as crop rotation, nutrient management and integrated pest management, to protect environmental resources and provide habitat for wildlife.

Agriculture works hard for Walworth County every day. Family-owned farms, food processors and agriculture-related businesses generate thousands of jobs and millions of dollars of economic activity while contributing to local income and tax revenues.

Although the population of Walworth County has increased by 25 percent in the past decade, over 60 percent of the county is still farmland. As one of the state’s top tourist destinations, the pastoral landscape is a valuable asset to the county.

Agriculture in the county is extremely diverse and in addition to production grain and dairy, includes a wide range of livestock and horticultural crops. The direct marketing of vegetables, meat and poultry, cheese, and fruits is a rapidly growing segment of county agriculture.
